Jes Navarro -50/50 Art Gallery <jes@5050artgallery.com>

To the supporters of the Scum:

Thank you for sharing such wonderful feedback on Smear's solo show, "Scumnasty: Doodles and Scribbles of a Restless Tire Slasher." As suspected, the reception to the work Smear created for this show has been very strong.

We like justice. So we've decided to give Smear's "Scumnasty" show some justice. It deserves an encore! And so, an encore it shall have! The show will now hang for 2 additional weeks, coming down Friday, January 24th.

This Saturday, January 11th is NELA Art Gallery Night, a great opportunity to check out the show and to see what's going on in the ever-growing Highland Park art scene.

Additionally, on January 18th, "Scumnasty" will go out with a bang at the encore closing event, sure to be another epic evening. More details on the private closing reception to follow.

See you soon.

A special thanks to L.A. TACO for this cool photo recap from the opening reception.

Friday January 24, 2014 TRANSMISSION a curated evening of film screenings. Doors 7:30pm/event starts promptly at 8pm FREE ADMISSION

Center for the Arts Eagle Rock and 5790projects are proud to present its first pop-up group exhibition for 2014, TRANSMISSION, featuring five LA-based artists largely focused on performance and video. In tandem with an artist talk, the exhibition will be on view for one night only at two separate venues; debuting at the Center for the Arts, Eagle Rock, then traveling to the Orange County Museum of Art.

Featuring:

Deanna Erdmann, "Sweet Science," 2014 / single channel video / 12 min 23 sec

Elana Mann / "Searching for a Signal," 2013 / single channel HD video / 5 min

Emily Mast / "B!RDBRA!N (Addendum)," 2012 / Video, 7 min 08 s

Danial Nord, "On Message," 2008 / Single channel video / 2:38 min

Tyler Matthew Oyer (in collaboration with Cary Cronenwett), "Dancing on My Own," 2010 / single channel video / 4 min

The artists featured in TRANSMISSION use video as a way of navigating perceived, assumed, and projected identities. By assuming or presenting exaggerated modes of selfhood, each artist delve into the constructs that shape abstract and popular notions of individuality. 5790projects focuses on providing a pop-up exhibition platform for emerging artists based in Los Angeles. The artists included in TRANSMISSION encompass a diverse miscellany of practice and exhibition history. All of the artists live and work in Los Angeles.

Dudley Saunders' performance, IN THESE BOXES, is an uncommon – and uncanny – mix of live music, narratives and video art that explores the human need to keep the dead from disappearing by holding on to their things. In the piece, Dudley takes 12 objects left behind by the dead and weaves each of them into a video hallucination of the missing life. As he sings their stories at the front of stage, the world of the vanished comes to life on the screen behind him. He conceives of this as a kind of social-media cemetery that people can visit at any time, and see the objects that other people can't let go.

Performance is One Night Only www.InTheseBoxes.com

CENTER SPOTLIGHT

Meet Adrian Tenney, here she is teaching our Ukulele workshop @ CFAER.

Have you noticed the addition of drought tolerant plants at CFAER?

We'd like to give a big THANK YOU to Adrian Tenney who lovingly tends our garden. She's an amazing artist, musician and teacher as well.

Adrian Tenney is a Los Angeles based visual, musical and landscaping artist. She plays guitar in Badlands, plays drums in Spokenest (performing at the Redwood on January 18 and with a new cassette out) with husband Daryl, and plays ceng-ceng in Balinese Gamelan Ensembles (Burat Wangi and Pandan Arum) at CalArts (where she graduated from in '09). She is currently working on a certificate of Horticulture from Pierce College, as well as a series of watercolors of drought-tolerant plants. She also does a regular comic called Bite the Cactus, in Razorcake Magazine. Adrian strives to bring her two worlds together by creating art inspired by horticulture, and by designing, installing and maintaining drought-tolerant landscapes. "I want to work on helping Los Angeles and Southern California become less reliant on water-thirsty gardens. There is so much beauty and inspiration in succulents and drought tolerant gardens. " We are honored to have Adrian be actively invested in CFAER!
